Be warned…

This book is not for everyone. It’s for YOU!

Whether you're a prepper, a survivalist, a camping enthusiast, a boondocker, a homesteader, a hunter, a fugitive (okay, hopefully you're not a fugitive), looking forward to self sufficiency, emergency preparedness, or simply looking to backcountry or off grid living… you'll need FOOD.

What is the benefit to living off grid and knowing how to prepare survival foods or emergency foods?
The joy of living in the present moment without the stress and craziness/ridiculousness of modern living where many aspects of your life are often dictated to you and at best, manipulated.
Being that it is such a joy living freely and independently, preparing food is a big part of that.
So is basic survival preparedness and a full, working knowledge of survival food and self-sufficiency living.
Most of the people you see and know wouldn’t be able to get a decent campfire started with a flamethrower much less cook anything worth eating over it.

I don’t have to tell you how liberating it is to be free of our society’s madness for even a few days, but our nation’s electrical grid is more fragile than most people realize.

Basic survival or emergency preparedness is crucial. So is a good working understanding of survival food.

Whether by choice or necessity, you are out living in the wild….
You’ll be glad to have added this book to your budget cookbook, survival books or prepper books collection!

Here are the summary of recipes you will learn how to prepare like a pro with the help of this budget cookbook. This is a budget cookbook definitely filled with camping recipes and outdoor cooking recipes for living off grid!
